Washington, Aug. 4.—Members of President Harding's cabinet took today's meeting reports on the coal and rail strikes as gathered by their respective departments. The session, it was indicated was given over almost wholly to a discussion of the situation in the two industries.

Secretary Hoover announced that distribution of coal by the federal emergency control committee had been started under informal arrangements. These arrangements, he explained, have been made pending completion of the committee's organization and issuance of orders to take care of strategic points and necessary industries.

BULLETIN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 4.—Representatives of the six striking shopcraft unions on the Southern Railway will meet in Washington tomorrow with H. W. Miller, vice president in charge of operations on the system, to consider proposals for settlement of the strike on the basis suggested by President Harding to the executives of all the railroads.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Developments in the railroad strike were confined to speculation as to what the next peace move would be and reports of violence from various points during the last 24 hours.

Union officials here today were awaiting word from President Harding with regard to their message accepting his proposals for ending the walkout. Railroad executives and strike leaders still maintained their attitudes on the question of seniority, the executives insisting that rights of men who stayed at work and new men be respected, and union chiefs holding out for restoration of rights to strikers.

Striking shopmen of the Southern Railway in Richmond, Va., in a meeting today to discuss the company's proposition to re-employ strikers without prejudice to their seniority rights, announced that no action would be taken until word was received from headquarters in Chicago.

Two Violent Deaths.

Two deaths resulted from violence; one in Edgemoor, S. Dak., where a switchman of the C. P. & Q. was shot and the other in Chicago where a carpenter employed in the Illinois Central shops was beaten to death.

A repairman in the Illinois Central shops in Chicago was beaten into insensibility because he refused to join the strikers.

At Waco, Texas, a guard in the Missouri, Kansas & Texas shops was shot through the groin during an argument with a fireman.

A Union Pacific trainmaster was seized on the main street of Las Vegas, Nevada, taken several miles out into the desert and given a coat of tar and excelsior by a number of men. At the same town four women attacked the wife of a Union Pacific round house foreman as she was carrying dinner to her husband. She was beaten severely.

Two men were injured and half a dozen windows in a passenger coach were broken when a crowd of men stoned an Illinois Central train at New Orleans, La.

At Birmingham, Ala., two white men were wounded a negro woman wounded and another negro woman injured severely by being trampled upon in a clash between non-union workers and striking shopmen of the St. L. San Francisco R. R. police reports said. The white men and one of the negro women were shot. One of the men was seriously wounded.

Mayor Cowart of Waycross, Georgia, revoked the licenses of two barber shops where barbers refused to shave non-union men. The shops continued to operate, but the proprietors and barbers were summoned to appear in court to answer charges of doing business without licenses.

Moline Co. Given
Galena Ave. Work

The city council in adjourned session this morning awarded the contract for the construction of paved streets on Galena and Hennepin avenues, between Third and Seventh streets and on Third and Seventh streets between Patrick Court and Tenth Street to the Borden Construction Co. of Moline. STERLING GOING TO
CHICAGO TO MEDIATE
STREET CAR STRIKECar Men Ask Acting Governor to Try to Bring Peace.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mediation in the Chicago street car strike was decided upon by Acting Governor Fred E. Sterling this morning. In a statement to the Associated Press he said that "while doubtful that Chicago street car interests would welcome outside interference," he had wired inviting President Blair of the Chicago Surface Lines to meet him in conference with President Quinlan of the striking street car workers at the Congress Hotel at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The acting governor offered "mediatorial service" in telegrams to the two presidents yesterday.

Employees Welcome It.

The response of President Blair of the surface lines acknowledged the offer and added the statement that "we are continuing our negotiations with our men in daily sessions working for a settlement basis" while the answer of President Quinlan of the strikers expressed a desire for mediation for the Governor and added "we thank you for your kind offer and if convenient to you should be glad to confer with you in Chicago on the matter."

Mr. Sterling indicated that he would leave for Chicago late today.

SITUATION DEADLOCKED.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Aug. 4.—The fourth day of Chicago's street car strike saw representatives of the car companies and strike leaders in an apparent deadlock over terms for a settlement.

Meanwhile Mayor Thompson and the city council were considering plans for the purchase and operation of city owned motor busses through appropriations from the $30,000,000 traction fund. In a communication to the council yesterday, the mayor suggested appropriation of $3,000,000 for the purpose and Alderman Oscar Olsen, introduced a resolution to that effect.

Under the mayor's plan the busses would be operated on five cent fares. A number of municipally operated busses are now running with a fare of five cents.

BULLETIN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Aug. 4.—A canvass of coal operators in the central competitive field, according to an announcement made today by Representatives of Illinois Operators, indicates that only district number 8, of Ohio, comprising about 5 per cent of the tonnage of the entire field, will be present at the wage conference called for next Monday in Cleveland by John L. Lewis, international president of the miners.

Local coal circles see little hope of a wage agreement for the central competitive field, declaring that settlement of the strike must come through separate state agreements.

BULLETIN.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Acting Governor Fred E. Sterling declared this morning in a statement to the Associated Press that he had received no authoritative word from Washington threatening to shut off Illinois coal supply from other states, but that Secretary Hoover had sent a telegram several days ago which might be construed as containing such an intimation.

The telegram, Mr. Sterling said, had been referred to Robert M. Medill, the state fuel administrator. It contained the advice, Mr. Sterling said, that "coal, producing states would have to look out for themselves, that coal insofar as possible would be devoted to the needs of the state where it was mined." Mr. Sterling said he quoted from memory and might be mistaken.

Mr. Hoover's telegram was not made public when received, Mr. Sterling said, but was held for further explanation and instructions from Washington.

Sterling Is Pleased

When informed that the federal fuel distributor had announced that no instructions have been issued from Washington and none contemplated, cutting Illinois off from coal outside the state, the Acting Governor said he was greatly pleased, as such an action would cause considerable commotion among coal consumers, some of whom are entirely dependent on outside coal.

Robert M. Medill, the state fuel administrator when informed of the statements credited him by Chicago papers this morning denied he had said the state is "up against it," and said his words had been greatly exaggerated. He indicated he would have a statement concerning the situation after a conference with Mr. Sterling. "Illinois has a thirty days supply of coal in storage," Mr. Medill said, "the only consumers in extreme need are those who are existing on a day to day supply."

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Aug. 4.—Illinois, restricted to its own supply of coal, faces the most critical situation that it has been compelled to face, according to Robert M. Medill, state fuel director. Protection is to be assured to the twenty-six penal, reformatory and charitable institutions, and possibly to the University of Illinois and the state normal schools.

Mr. Medill left Chicago late yesterday for Springfield, where he went to confer with Acting Governor Sterling. Before he departed he said:

"Illinois now is absolutely up against it. I am going to the capital to arrange, if possible, with Acting Governor Sterling some plan of action. Mr. Sterling informed me by telephone that there are no funds available for action that is inevitable and highly necessary in producing the Illinois coal and delivering it to the cities that are in the greater distress."

The fuel director declared that orders received yesterday afternoon from Henry B. Spencer, national fuel administrator mean elimination of any shipments of coal from the Kentucky and Tennessee fields that have been relied on for operation of street cars, gas, electric and water plants throughout the state. He suggested that final decision as to what may be expected in the way of getting out Illinois coal will be reached at Springfield Monday or Tuesday.

BY OFFICIAL REPORTER.

"Cinderella" is the name which has frequently been applied to Miss Jessie Isabel Christian, who is to sing at the Assembly Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, August 6th, because of her filling the places of prima donnas who were ill, sometimes on only an hour's notice, yet with great success. She was in France during the first two years of the war, and charmed the boys in many hospitals with her beautiful voice. She was chosen by the French government to sing at the opening of the largest aviation camp in the world, and after the concert was given by the French ace by aeroplane to Paris. Miss Christian spent ten years in France, where she sang in many places not usually open to Americans. She is often called the best dressed woman of the concert stage. Her gowns are all imported creations from Paris.

Miss Christian has come back to America to stay. The French chose her as the representative American singer because of the unusual timbre of her voice, which easily filled the hall in the world, the Sorbonne. But she is equally loved in her own country, and sang with the same success in her own state, even using as an encore an old ballad which her mother used to sing in that very town.

Her voice is a coloratura soprano of exquisite texture, round, full, vibrant, most flexible, and she handles it with ease in bird-like trills and difficult runs.

Has Fine Accompanist.
A fine soloist needs a skilled accompanist. Miss Christian has one in Gavin Williamson, whose work is said to be beautiful, always just right—subordinated to the soloist, yet so personified in the soloist, yet so personified in the soloist.

THREE DEATHS IN FAMILY TRACED
TO INFECTED COW
Parents and Baby Die
of Tuberculosis in Seven Weeks.

The dangers of tuberculosis in milk cows and the great need of utmost care in the elimination of bacteria in milk has been brought close to home to Whiteside county people in the tragedy that claimed the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Peterson and small baby in the short period of seven weeks, the tuberculosis causing their deaths being traced to the herd of milk cows maintained by the family at their home on the farm southwest of Sterling. The white plague claimed the baby about seven weeks ago, the mother passed away four weeks ago and on Thursday of last week the father succumbed to the dreaded disease at a sanitarium in Springfield where he had been taken for treatment.

Following the first appearance of tuberculosis in the family, the cows that had been furnishing the milk for consumption were given the tuberculin test, revealing that four of the six animals had shown a positive tubercular reaction. The animals were disposed of at once, but too late to save the lives of the father, mother and baby. Four small children, ages 3, 5, 8 and 10 are all that remain of the family. None of them have, as yet, shown symptoms of having contracted the disease.

Alligator 41 Inches Long, Taken from River at Sterling

Oral Hyde caught an alligator while fishing just back of the Northwestern Wire plant in Sterling. It was 41 inches in length. Several alligators have been seen in Rock river near this place where this one was caught. It is presumed that persons bringing alligators here from the south, have placed them in the river at some time or other and they have withstood the changes in the temperature of the water and are able to survive and thrive here.

FOREST FIRES RAGE
BEYOND CONTROL OF
THOUSANDS IN WESTNature Seems to Be On Side of Fires in Big Territory.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Spokane, Wash., Aug. 4.—From the Rocky Mountains in Montana to the Columbia river in Washington and up to one hundred miles from the Canadian border, thousands of men are fighting against forest fires which seem to have nature on their side.

The practically dry, hot summer weather of the last two months, which reached its climax in thunder storms lately, has made the forest condition extremely critical. Lightning, which accompanied the storms, has started more fires than the rain has checked, and in most inaccessible places.

A fire in Kaniku Forest, eastern Washington last night and jumped the Columbia line, covering 750 acres, threatening the forest experiment station. The fire, according to latest official reports, was headed northeast, through valuable government timber.

25 Other Fires.

Twenty-five other fires, started by lightning at the head of the Locksaw fork of the Clearwater river have been reported under control.

A fire on Marble creek in Idaho has been burning two weeks and has broken from restraint several times, but is at last reported under control.

In Montana, in the southwestern corner of Glacier National Park, a fire has burned over 70 acres and endangers 100 acres in the Blackfoot Reservation. Reports stated that it was spreading. At Olympia yesterday, Assistant State Forester Theodore Goodyear said the state of Washington "was practically helpless before the fire occurred."

DIXON DEALERS
WITHOUT A TON
FOR READY SALEI. N. U. Has About One Months Supply of Coal on Hand.

The coal situation locally is becoming more serious each day and a canvass of the Dixon dealers this morning showed that there is not a ton of soft coal available in the city. At this time of the year however, the shortage is not as critical as it will be a few weeks hence, but dealers were unable to give any indication of immediate relief and some were of the opinion that a marked shortage of fuel would be noted this winter.

Dealers who have a small amount of fuel on hand are conserving it for the protection of restaurants and essential customers. Local manufacturing industries report sufficient fuel to run through several weeks, with a prospect for incoming shipments replacing their present stocks.

Colony Well Fixed.

Yesterday, reports were current that some of the state charitable institutions were suffering from a shortage which was becoming acute. Dr. W. G. Murray, superintendent of the Dixon state colony in an interview this morning indicated that there was no cause for immediate alarm at the local institution. "We have 815 tons of coal on the ground at the institution," he said, "and are using at this time of the season about ten tons daily, which gives us about an 80 day supply with more fuel arriving. However, there is no waste of coal at the colony as we are economizing on consumption to prolong our supply as much as possible."

E. D. Alexander, vice president and general manager of the Illinois Northern Utilities company was interviewed today and stated that a sufficient supply of both steam and gas coal, was on hand to operate the Dixon plants for a period of one month. "The utilities company is fortunate in owning its own mines, producing both steam and gas coal, but is experiencing considerable delay in getting the coal from the mines, which are located in western Kentucky, to the plants because of the inability of the railroads to furnish cars."

I. N. U. Situation

The I. N. U. company was one of the first utilities companies in the state to file priority rights in Illinois and Vice President Alexander in reviewing rumors that shipments from Tennessee and Kentucky mines were to be stopped, added, "we will use what we have and then stop, but we will be running when many other utilities companies in the state are down." He also stated that the last 25 cars of steam coal which have been shipped to the Dixon plant have cost the company three times the amount of the gas coal.

"At the present time, I would consider the supply of steam coal as being no cause for worry, but if the report is true and I doubt it, and there are no modifications, we will have to stop."

Oil Gas Supplied
By Quincy Company

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Quincy, Ill., Aug. 4.—Although the supply of coal in bins of local retail dealers has been reduced to a few hundred tons, Quincy has not yet suffered little from the coal strike. The majority of the city's industries use hydraulic electric power from Keokuk and are not dependent on coal. The shortage has been felt largely by small consumers. The Quincy Gas, Electric & Heating Co. is conserving much coal by the use of oil gas and can if necessary supply the city entirely with oil gas.

Rockford Industries
Facing Suspensions

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Rockford, Ill., Aug. 4.—Rockford's city water plant, the Rockford Electric Company and the Rockford Gas, Light & Coke Co., have a three months' fuel supply with coal in stock and shipments in transit on government priority orders. A survey yesterday showed only 600 tons of coal in local retail yards. Several industries face the prospect of shutting down unless the strike is settled soon.

Tri-Cities Have
a Month's Supply

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Moline, Ill., Aug. 4.—The People's Power Co., supplying the greater part of power for industries of Moline, Rock Island and Davenport, reports a coal supply on hand sufficient to last until Sept. 1st. Possibility of converting machinery so that oil may be used as fuel in event of a cessation of coal is being considered.

DIXON ELKS IN DEFEAT BEFORE STERLING DRIVE

Local Bills Dropped Game Thursday at Sterling Park.

The Dixon Elks baseball team fared badly in their game with the Sterling Elks in the Community ball park at that city yesterday afternoon, being defeated by a score of 14 to 8. At the end of the third inning, Dixon led by a 3 to 0 score, but fumbles and bad fielding netted six scores for the Sterling. Shippert lasted on the mound through the sixth and served up a good brand of ball, but retired in favor of Davis.

Davis, a southpaw, lasted but one inning, Sterling piling up four runs off his offerings. Doc Evans then relieved Davis and finished the game. A return game will be played in this city, the date to be announced later. The local Elks lined up as follows: Wheeler, Rf; Schroek, cf; R. Schroek, 3b; Shippert, Davis, Evans, p; Moore, 1b; Evans, 2b; Dysart, ss; Nelson, 2b; Bovey, c.

BASEBALL BIGGEST BONES TWO BRAINY MANAGERS LET MEN BAT OUT OF ORDER

Mistakes due to batting out of order are always confusing. As a rule such plays are brought about through carelessness.

In most cases, the blame rests entirely with one or two players.

However, two of the most unusual batting out of order plays in the majors, had two of the game's brightest managers as the offenders.

Branch Rickey, now the manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, pulled one off stunts while the great and only Tyrus Raymond Cobb was responsible for the other.

Rickey offended when he was leader of the St. Louis Browns in the American League. In the regular lineup of the Browns, Wallace had been hitting sixth and Austin eighth.

In this game, which was played at Washington, Rickey decided to shift his batting order, sending Austin to sixth and dropping Wallace to eighth.

Rickey so notified the umpire and gave them his official lineup. But he failed to tell the players of the change. For eight innings Wallace batted sixth and Austin eighth, although the official batting order called for just the reverse.

In the ninth inning, Rickey decided to send a pinch hitter in for his catcher, who was batting seventh. Wallace led off with a double. Then Rickey sent in his pinch hitter. At this stage, John Henry, catching for Washington, noticed that Wallace, who had hit sixth and doubled, was listed eighth in the official lineup.

The umpire's attention was called to the fact, and he called out the proper batsmen, Veatch, and crase Heilmann's home run.

LEONARD PLANS EUROPEAN TRIP EARLY IN FALL

May Meet Champions of Britain and Germany There.

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Leonard, lightweight pugilist champion, plans to sail for England about Sept. 15 for an indefinite stay. He will meet Ever Hammer of Chicago in a 10 round bout here tomorrow afternoon.

Leonard has been offered $50,000 for a 20 round bout with Ernie Rice, British title holder, and also is negotiating for a contest with a German lightweight in Berlin. Before sailing Benny may engage Pinkie Mitchell, brother of Ritchie, in a 10 round contest in Milwaukee on Aug. 25.

"Since my determination to box as often as possible I think I have done very well," Leonard said today. "I met three good men—Britton, Kansas and Tondler, all within a month. I have another tough match on my hands tomorrow when I tackle Hammer."

"I know he is tough, because he gave me one of the hardest matches of my career."

With the exception of the cut over his right eye, the champion's handlers say he is in splendid condition for Hammer. The wound is healing nicely.

Hammer is a dangerous left hand puncher, and is aggressive. He floored Ritchie Mitchell and Charley White with left hooks and each knocked Leonard down in contests with the champion.

Neither Leonard nor Hammer planned to do any serious training today. Hammer says he plans to carry the fight to Leonard from the first bell.

Wallace, who had doubled when he batted out of order, was removed from second. The pinch hitter then hit for the catcher. Then Wallace, who had previously doubled, when he batted out of order, hit in his proper position, eighth.

It is one of the few instances where two players have batted out of order a number of times without being detected. Had not a pinch hitter been sent in, the "hood" probably would have escaped notice.

Last season, Heilmann usually hit third and Veatch fourth. In the Detroit lineup. On this day, Cobb decided to reverse conditions, but failed to tell the players after notifying the umpire. The game also was played at Washington.

In the opening inning, Heilmann came up third, when the lineup called for him to hit fourth. It was the irony of fate that he should drive the ball into the old left-field bleachers at Washington, one of the longest hits ever made in the park.

Immediately, Manager Milan of Washington complained that he had batted out of order. There was nothing for the umpire to do but call out the proper batsmen, Veach, and crase Heilmann's home run.

Milady Fair Creates New Vocation as Mistress-At-Arms on U. S. Liners

It was due to her presence on board that the men were taking more interest in sartorial affairs. It is needless to say that both were flattered by her presence.

The Mistress-At-Arms suggested that since both of them were so positive as to ownership that both of them needed it and that it might not be a bad plan for them to cut it in half and share it. Both looked at the other and after a sheepish grin, linked arms and disappeared into the fore-castle.

The Mistress-At-Arms fills a long felt want on board any vessel, and it is a credit to the United States Lines to be the first to realize this needed vacancy on all of their ships. She is an accomplished linguist, speaking several languages, she is athletic and thoroughly versed in all of the latest exercises in which she is ready to instruct any of the women passengers who wish to avail themselves of her teaching.

No one need have the slightest fear as to the safe and pleasant voyage of their daughter or sister travelling on the ships of the United States Lines, because the Mistress-At-Arms has been instructed by General Manager Rosbottom, to watch out and look after all unchaperoned girls, and see that they have just as much helpful and kindly advice and watchfulness as if they were travelling with one of their relatives.

This is merely another example of the progressive and up to the minute policy of all concerned in giving the greatest assurance and comfort to all who travel on the United States Lines, and from the numerous letters that have been received, the Mistress-At-Arms fills a unique niche in the annals of passenger traffic and is destined to uphold the standards of progressive womanhood and be a credit to the American Merchant Marine.

IT IS WORTH TRYING, AT ANY RATE—

We do not doubt for the efficacy of the remedy quoted below, but it is worth trying:

The fear of poison ivy, which has kept many a city dweller away from the woods and meadows a whole season through, is now unnecessary fear. The specter in the shadows of the forest is gone. Science has provided the means for warding off the illness which otherwise follow infection. The remedy is just an application of ordinary gasoline. Benzine may be used instead of gasoline. Science has discovered that the irritation of the skin, in ivy poisoning, is no different from any other chemical burn, and that gasoline or benzine will dissolve and remove the poisonous oil of ivy if applied in time.—Exchange.

fectly and artistically done as to attract attention. An assistant artist will also come with Miss Christian.

All this can be heard at the Assembly Auditorium at 2:30 Sunday.

Saturday night there will be moving pictures by the same company which has given them at the close of each week-day evening. The crowd waits for them. The Dixon Orchestra will give a prelude.

Tonight the Dixon Municipal Band plays for a half hour before Judge Kavenagh lectures on "The House of Fear." He is a busy popular judge.

For Graded S. S.

Prof. Hefebower's lecture on Thursday morning was on meeting the emergency by improving what we have, the Sunday school and catechization. The Sunday school may be improved in organization by using more graded work. This is very effective where used. Raising standards means increase of study by pupils and the better use of study periods. A great deal has been done during the last five years in supervising the teaching and by libraries of professional literature. Teacher training is now the thing. S. S. equipment may be improved. There was a very interesting discussion, many questions being asked on psychological and theological problems.

Education shows results in information, skill, or increased capacities. The National Education Association says that a place for religious education cannot be provided in the public school and that the church must be responsible for it. The danger of degenerating into mere information, leaving out spiritual development, must be guarded against.

Social service cannot be substituted for the Christian faith of which it is the inescapable result. Religion is the real appropriation of the divine by the human.

Dr. Neuman's Address.

Dr. Neuman gave the other of his two lectures, this being "The Christ Within Us." He began by quoting, "Never more indispensable, in all things indispensable, becomes to us the Christ," which was perhaps the key to his address.

Our Lord Jesus Christ, with the Holy Spirit, lives in all Christians. Christ gave His life in death that He might fill and imbue us. The soul is no longer the lost sheep which the Shepherd seeks, but a life unity is maintained. Christ Within Us, Jesus shares the divine attribute of omnipresence. Come, Lord Jesus. He will indeed be the beloved house-guest of each life. He prays with us. The most precious promise of Scripture is "Ask whatsoever ye will and it shall be done."

The religion of Jesus Christ is the only source of the union among all classes and creeds. He is the most singular person among all personalities. Obedience to the word of Christ ushers in universal peace.

Concert Company Pleases.

The Du Moulin Concert Company gave a half hour prelude in the afternoon. The company consists of four young people, Theodore Du Moulin, who has been on the platform as a fine cellist for the past ten years and more; Ralph Michaelis, an equally good violinist; Miss Rose Lyon, a vocalist, who sings sympathetically with every word understood; and a brilliant pianist, Miss Margaret Weiland. They gave six numbers in the afternoon.

An instrumental trio of soft, sweet music, a double violin number, the vocal solos, "God touched the rose," and "Life's Paradise," both by Mary Helen Brown, were followed by Mr. Du Moulin on the cello. One number was Serenade, by Moskowski, which was beautiful and played with expression, and a lively march by Meyer, closed the prelude.

This was Rev. Kennerly's last lecture this year. He says he wants to come back next year and sit in the audience, for he enjoys the Assembly. His subject was "Some necessary factors of modern preaching," and about the first he said, "The preacher is just about what the people make him."

He must be sure of his calling, and have a sense of authority in his preaching, a certainty of his divine commission. Then he will let God place him, and ask God to make him big enough for the place and God will do it.

He must be sure of his doctrine to cope with the false, have Christ the center, and the Bible as his textbook.

The modern preacher is a child of the age in which he lives. Some ministers go to seed when twenty-five to forty, because they have outlived the generation for which they were trained. He must be in the world, but not of the world. He must apply the message to his people in their vocabulary, with enthusiasm.

Dr. Hoover gave another of his delightful lectures in the series, "Redeeming the Time." This was Morning with the Master.

He began with a mention of Bible characters who rose early in the morning, then spoke particularly of Christ's habit. Jesus was always fresh for His work.

Christ had a habit of rising a great while before day, to pray. If He found it worth while, how much more should we.

In the parable of the householder he went early in the morning to seek laborers, a suggestion in finding workers.

Jesus left the tomb very early in the morning. He is the "bright and morning star." Was He one of the morning stars that sang together when He laid the universe, or should this have the New Testament interpretation.

All the people came early in the morning to hear Jesus, and He told them, "I am the Light of the world."

His disciples were with Him early in the morning as they passed the withered fig tree. He told them, "Have faith in God, and pray and you shall remove mountains."

In the morning Jesus stood on the shore with seven disciples and later had a personal conference with Peter, probably the eldest one.

Jesus took children in His arms, when they were in the morning of life. He knows the difficulties to be met during adjustment to the great world. Some are on the wrong road early in the morning of human life.

"Times are not what they were," was found on a tablet in ancient Babylon. If we are in the night, it is very early in the morning. Just before the dawn. The morning will be revealed when Christians keep unspotted from the world. We must raise the standards of Jesus Christ much higher if we will bring in the full day. Clouds as may be the morning of thought on some things, it is morning, and Christ will help us to enter the new day. Let us grow more and more into the perfect day in the morning of a new age.

Evening Concert

The Du Moulin Concert Company occupied the evening acceptably. On the street car going home, some one said that every part was good. The program was as follows:

Trio—Violin, cello, and piano—Grand Opera Medley.

Songs—Open thy Blue Eyes (Massenet); At Parting (Rogers); The Star (Rogers)—Rose Lyon.

Violin Solos—Melody (Dawes); Minuet (Hofmeister); Polish Dance (Severn)—Ralph Michaelis.

Trio—My Heart at thy Sweet One, from Samson and Delilah (Saint Saens); Hungarian Dance (Brahms); At Dawning (Cadmans); March Militaire (Schubert).

Cello Solo—Polonaise (Popper)—Theodore Du Moulin.

Piano Solo—Blue Danube Waltzes (Strauss-Etler)—Margaret Weiland.

Songs—The Cuckoo Clock (Grant Schaefer); Shadow March (Del Riego); Big Brown Bear (Mama-Zueda)—Rose Lyon.

Comic Opera Medley—Du Moulin Concert Party.

Generous With Encores

The Company were especially generous with encores, many of which were the equal of the number which had called them back. One which was especially enjoyed was the song about the little girl who told the little boy he might not kiss her until apples grew on the lilac tree, but in the morning he found her tying some on. Another very pleasing number was the Negro Dance by the pianist, Miss Weiland.

It was very rapid, and each tone distinct, showing fine finger work. Her accompaniment work was very acceptable good playing, of course subordinate to the other artists, so the solos gave opportunity for the audience to become acquainted with her ability. The last group of songs was especially for the children, and the encores was The Little Elf Man.

HEARD ABOUT CAMP

The Assembly Rooster, a fine Rhode Island Red, goes about camp early in the morning to waken people. He is the guest of hammock-swingers, picking at their shoes, and in the evening he roosts on a gentleman's lap.

Several of the campers have enjoyed visiting the Orphanage at Nachusa.

Rev. Kennerly and four others started in his car immediately after his lecture Thursday afternoon, for his home in Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. Kennerly has been a popular lecturer, from what has been "heard about camp." He is a popular pastor in Milwaukee. Some may not know that he was born in North Carolina, where his father's people had lived since 1620 when they came from England. His mother's people were Pennsylvanians. Rev. Kennerly was one of thirteen children, and had a twin sister. His parents were kept busy supplying the food, for they were far from being rich people.

"There they are, let's run," and now some people are watching certain seats in the Auditorium to see which party gets that particular seat for both parties and as many as possible.

Sixteen from Ohio, Illinois, visited the Cheerful Workers at Wobble Inn Thursday.

Five campers started for Black Hawk monument, and the car backed near Fuller's across the river, so they were obliged to eat their hamburger and onions there on the road and imagine the Sandusky Cement stacks to be the Black Hawk statue.

If it is absolutely necessary to waken the campers at 11 o'clock each night to tell them to keep quiet, they would appreciate having the joints of the bell greased. This is not a joke.

Will C. Krauss, business manager of Carthage College, arrived Thursday to remain some time.

Mrs. Sophie Wuehl of Nachusa was in camp Thursday.

Mrs. Dr. Hoover and Miss Dorcas arrived in camp Thursday evening from Carthage, to remain over Sunday. Their many friends were glad to see them.

Miss Marian Olsen was a guest at the Rex tent from Sunday until Thursday.

Mrs. W. E. Holman and Mrs. Harold Goodert spent Wednesday afternoon in Sterling calling on friends.

It has been suggested that any musicians desiring a rest, should avoid this camp, as there are so many ukuleles played after night bell. The warning is given that missing ukuleles may be looked for in the river.

Mrs. L. W. Parks of Rock Falls is visiting at the Ashling-Golder tent for a couple of days.

Want Govt. to Make Barges Haul Grain

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 3.—George F. Powell, president of the St. Louis Merchants Exchange, has applied to Secretary of War Weeks to compel Edward F. Goira to put his government leased fleet of four towboats and 19 barges into operation carrying grain on the Mississippi river.

Mr. Powell asserted that no effort was being made to move a million bushels of grain in elevators here and awaiting export.

Marshal's Slaying Appeal is Denied

London Aug. 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—The court of criminal appeal today heard and dismissed the appeals of Joseph O'Sullivan and Reginald Dunn, under sentence of death for the assassination of Field Marshal Wilson. The appellants were not present at the hearing.

BRIGHT LIGHTS

Sometimes one wonders if the fellow driving down the street with his bright lights on realizes the discomfort he is causing others and the menace he is to life. It is hard to believe that there are so many drivers totally regardless of the rights of others.

Last night in Dixon one Ford driver went west on Third street with his bright lights on and blinded every oncoming driver for four, five and six blocks ahead of him. Men like that should be punished. It is just such hogishness that causes fatal accidents.

One of the worst offenders is the driver in a line of vehicles who keeps his bright lights on when meeting oncoming cars. The man coming toward him does not like to use his own bright lights because other drivers in the line are keeping their lights dimmed, so he must either stop or drive along absolutely blinded by the glare.

And many of the so-called anti-glare lenses are more of a nuisance than a help because with bright lenses behind them they blind an oncoming driver as effectively as the clear glass, but the owner takes advantage of being nearly with the law and lets everyone else take care of himself the best he can.

If these bright-light hogs come to grief we have no sympathy for them.
They are endangering their own cars because the oncoming driver, when blinded, is as apt to run into them as into the ditch.

PAY STOPPED YEAR AGO—STILL WORKING

June 20, a Decatur man (name on request) telephoned The Review for the name and address of a summer resort advertised in The Review just one year before (June, 1921). This man wanted information concerning rates, etc., and said he knew no other place to go for such information except The Review, because he remembered a classified ad which was in The Review last summer.

What other salesman works for you and turns in orders one year after being discharged? It pays to advertise! says the Decatur Review.

TREES

Benedictine monks for 919 years have been cultivating one of the world's finest forests. It surrounds an ancient hermitage, about 50 miles southeast of Florence, Italy.

A report in an American forestry magazine says that this forest is as fine as it was nearly 1000 years ago, though lumber has been taken out of it steadily in great quantities.

The shrewd monks plant new trees
as fast as they cut down old ones.
Our forests rapidly are disappearing.
Unless we want a treeless America,
we, too, will have to plant a tree for each one logged. Forest destruction is our greatest waste.

CONFISCATION

All German farmers are ordered by the Reichstag to turn over to the government a fourth of this year's grain crops. The grain will be sold to the poor at a third of market price.

Germany is wise enough to look after its own unfortunates. In America, charity begins away from home.

FINGERPRINTS

Prejudice against finger-printing of bank depositors is vanishing. This is reported by postal savings officials.
People no longer are averse to this kind of identification on account of its association with criminals. That prejudice was so senseless as it would be to take all locks off doors because locks are used on jail cells.

Somewhere on earth, you probably have an exact "double"—a perfect duplicate of you, except for fingerprints. They are the only infallible form of identification. Every baby's prints should be taken at birth. For one thing, it would avoid mixups such as the kind that made "Puddin'- head Wilson" famous.

KEEPING COOL

To avoid sunstroke, keep in a breeze. This advice is from the medical editor of the London Times. He says that heat stroke is rare in well-ventilated or windy places, no matter how hot.

The old idea was that "gettin' overcome by the heat" was due to temperature of the air.

European physicians are swinging to the belief that heat prostrations and most hot weather discomfort are due more to stuffy air than actual heat.

People instinctively know this. Unconsciously, on a hot day, you seek a position in a breeze or draft.
Mechanically, this is the same as the fan which cools an auto engine.
Circulating air is the antidote for heat, though too powerful a breeze—such as created artificially by an electric fan—is apt to cause stiff necks or colds.

The principle, that ventilation counteracts heat, applies also to clothing. That's why women suffer less than men, in hot weather. Air circulates under their dresses, cooling the skin by evaporating warm perspiration.

In the Malay jungles, natives get this same effect by wearing an under-vest made of bamboo. The thickness of a pencil lead. The bamboo is cut into half-inch lengths and strung on cord in the formation of a fish net. The meshes or holes make cooling air pockets under the outer clothes.

Why do you wear heavy garments in winter? Your answer probably is,
"To keep out the cold." But the real effect of woolen underwear or a sealskin coat is to prevent the heat generated in our bodies from escaping into the cold air.

Put a hot substance with a cold substance and the heat flows into the cold until the temperature of the two is nearly equalized. This happens in your refrigerator, heat flows out of warm food and melts the ice. That's how food cools—by losing a lot of its stored-up heat.

The same principle works in summer when porous clothing permits the escape of the body's heat into the air or into a cold bath, like water through a pipe or electricity over a wire.

When the atmosphere is saturated with water, the evaporation of perspiration is checked, there being no dry air to absorb it like water into a wet sponge. Hence the saying, "I wouldn't mind heat if it wasn't for the humidity."

Misery also comes when escape of the body's heat is prevented by the atmosphere being still hotter.

WEATHER

England is having queer weather.
Its climate is changing, says John Harrison, British scientist. This cause, he believes, is a shifting of the Gulf current, due to the damlike structure of the railroad across the Florida keys to Key West.

What do you think of man's power, when he changes the weather? Merlin, King Arthur's magician never dreamed of Black Magic like that.

SEALS

Sea lions and halibuts are destroying the salmon and other fish off the British Columbia coast. That would have baffled people a century ago. Now the Canadian government merely motions to machine gunners and points to the seal rookeries of the Queen Charlotte islands.

Here you see a war device put to valuable use in peacetime. You see the flying machine, developed almost overnight during the war, now used in peace. And surgeons say that the war advanced their professions at least a century. Some good comes out of war—but mighty little.

POLICE

A Chicago policeman's diary, written in 1853-1855, comes to light. One entry says: "Arrested I. Breed, a hotel thief, and had his likeness taken. Went out on fresh trail of Vanderhills' mares. Found out that one had been swapped for a horse."

Most of the thefts, covered in this five years' record involves horses and petty objects that professional criminals of 1922 would scoff at.

Chief reason we have so much crime now is because there is so much more wealth than before the

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

JACK HEARD THE SWISH OF A BIRD'S WINGS AND LOOKED UP AND SAW A VICIOUS EAGLE CIRCLING AROUND HIS HEAD. JACK, AT ONCE STARTED TO RUN AS THE EAGLE SWOOPED DOWN.

IN THE MEANTIME FLIP WAS STRAINING AT THE ROPE THAT HELD HIM CAPTIVE. FINALLY HE CHEWED THE ROPE APART, AND DASHED UP THE HILL TO TRY AND SAVE HIS LITTLE MASTER.

JACK COULD NOT RUN FAST ENOUGH TO GET AWAY FROM THE FAST FLYING EAGLE, WHO MADE A SWOOP AND CAUGHT JACK, JUST AS FLIP CAME RUNNING UP THE HILL.

THE EAGLE FLEW OFF, CARRYING JACK. FLIP MADE A FLYING LEAP FOR THE BIRD, BUT WAS JUST A SECOND TOO LATE. THEN A MERRY CHASE STARTED.

RED-HEADS

Red-heads are more efficient than blonds or brunets, says an official of a big insurance company.

Historians sometimes wonder why
there are so few red-headed geniuses.
The answer is, because there are so few red-headed people to draw from.

Red hair is usually a sure sign of keen wit, rapid thought, ingenuity and deep thinking. You never knew a red head that was a dumb-bell. The sale of henna proves that outsiders are envious.

RADIO

Radio within a few months will make attractive livable territory out of 50,000 square miles now so isolated that no one wants to live there.

So says A. H. Morse, managing director for Marconi interests.

This probably will be the greatest field for wireless, until the day when invention permits universal sending as well as universal receiving.

The radio craze seems to be taking a nap at present. Why?

tle snake at Hazelwood. The snake weight boxer of northern Illinois, left

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Let another praise thee and not thine own mouth; a stranger and not thine own lips.—Prov. 27:2.

There is nothing lighter than vain praise.—William Drummond.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is—ECZEMA.

It's pronounced — ek-ze-ma, with accent on the first syllable. To place the emphasis on the second syllable, says a high authority, "though common, is contrary to the Latin accentuation."

It means—an inflammatory disease of the skin, characterized by redness and itching, by pimples, scales or crusts, and by a watery discharge.

It is of New Latin origin, but came originally from two Greek words, meaning "out" and "to boil."

It's used like this—"Eczema is a persistent, troublesome and disfiguring complaint which can hardly,
however, be classified as dangerous."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Nick had been watching Hungry Hawk circling around in the air.

Nancy and Nick and Dr. Snuffles were watching to see what Sis Sparrow would do, now that she had a bright red head and wings of black and white stripes like Will Woodpecker's.

Sis had said she was tired of being brown, so the fairy doctor had kindly consented to use magic and a little wild strawberry juice to fix her up.
The first thing she did was to cut her old friends.

The second was to forsake her home under the granary roof where her relatives lived.

Dr. Snuffles sighed. "Pride goeth before a fall," he said, shaking his head sadly.

Nancy was indignant.
"Sissy Sparrow was far nicer before," she declared. "She used to take dust-baths in the road and mud baths in the puddles and chirp around and be friends with everybody."

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

STAMMERING

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

There are few minor ailments so embarrassing as stammering. It is not a physical defect but largely a mental hazard, and so can be cured
by will-power.

To have a speech free from defects
there must be perfect harmony between speech and voice apparatus, perfect mind control and deep breathing from the diaphragm.

The sufferers from speech defect
who would overcome the affliction must start as a child learning to talk.
He must, after training, articulate without conscious effort, just as a person swallows food with an involuntary action.

Some rules are:

Training the muscles of speech through the sense of touch at the points at which they meet when speaking; eliminating monotone;
breath control from the diaphragm;

exercises in short phrases to eliminate rapid, continuous speech and to prevent talking when the breath is exhausted; retaining new perfection in speech by reading aloud and conversation.

In the correction of speech, deep breathing plays a major role. Exercises should be taken in this manner:
Stand erect in the ordinary position of "attention," chest high and active while taking breath, expand at the waist and diaphragmic muscles. Hold the breath while counting twenty.
Then increase by gradual degrees to forty. The sensation of tightness and fullness in the throat will pass away.

The length of time it takes to cure stammering depends on the responsiveness of the abnormal speech-conditions, and the sufferer's patience and determination.

SCARS

It is seldom you see people these days with ugly scars, because science has learned how to treat wounds so as to eliminate them.

A scar is a new formation of connective tissue replacing normal structures lost by injury or disease.

Sometimes a heaped-up scar formation follows slight burns, causing a constant itching sensation. It is difficult to relieve, tending to recur even after the most skillful plastic surgery, though such surgery offers about the only chance of relief.

In a scar there are no hair follicles or natural skin furrows. Hence scar tissue never looks quite natural.
When a considerable raw surface is to be covered, skin grafting always should be employed. This is perhaps the simplest of surgical operations,

the one essential being asepsis, that is, absolute cleanliness without antiseptic chemicals, which destroy new skin cells more readily than they destroy the bacteria themselves.

The best application for a fresh wound or burn is sterile petrolatum, commonly called vaseline, to protect the raw surface against the sticking of dressings.

Scars may be materially improved,
so far as appearance is concerned, by the intelligent use of plastic surgery, which any competent surgeon understands. X-ray treatments improve the appearance of some scars.

In Boston, they cure lisping by whittling. But the does are running themselves to death.

Without any Serious Purpose in View.
My putting's been doubtful, my driving's been lame.
I slice and I hook and I don't follow through.
But now I shall do as a golfer should do,
And study the very best methods of play.
I'll hire a professional's services, too;

MY business has had far too much of a claim
On time I have needed for golf, it is true;
So I have quit working for wealth or for fame,
And golf is the trade I shall henceforth pursue.
I've bought fifty clubs that are perfectly new;
They cost me a fortune, but golfers must pay.
I'm thinking, at that, my supply is too few;
I'm taking up golf in a Serious Way!

I'VE hired me a trainer to build up my frame;
I read all the golf books, and there are a slew;
From dawn until dark every day is the same;
I practice in hope that some skill may accrue.
The day my wife left my game went askew,
And most of my shots in the rough went astray.
But though for a while I was terribly blue,
I'm taking up golf in a Serious Way!

A GENTLE TOUCH.

BY WILLIAMS

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

by A.A. MILNE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Within two minutes after ROBERT ABLETT, nee-de-well brother of MARK ABLETT, bachelor prop of The Red House, had been ushered into the office, a shot was heard. ANTONY GILLINGHAM, a friend of BILL BEVERLEY, one of Mark's guests, arrived at that moment to find Mark's companion, MATT CAYLEY, pounding on the locked door on the floor found the body of Robert with a bullet through the head. Mark was nowhere to be found. Inspector Birch showed that Mark had learned with considerable disgust and amazement of the coming of Robert. Cayley refused to believe that Mark had deliberately murdered Robert.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER V
THE housekeeper's room had heard something of the news by this time, and Audrey had had a busy time explaining to other members of the staff exactly what he had said, and what she had said. The details were not quite established yet, but this much at least was certain: that Mr. Mark's brother had shot himself and expired. Mark away, and that Audrey had seen at once that he was that sort of man when she opened the door to him. Elsie had a contribution of her own to make. She had actually heard Mr. Mark in the office, threatening his brother.

"He said, I heard him say it with my own ears. It's my turn now," he said, triumphant-like.

"Well, if you think that's a threat, dear, you're very particular, I must say."

But Audrey remembered Elsie's words when she was in front of Inspector Birch. She gave her own evidence with the readiness of one who had already repeated it several times.

"Then you didn't see Mr. Mark at all?"

"No, sir; he must have come in before and gone up to his room."

"Well, I think that's all that I want to know. Now what about the other servants?"

"Elsie heard the master and Mr. Robert talking together," said Audrey eagerly. "He was saying—Mr. Mark, I mean—"

"Ah! Who is Elsie, by the way?"

"One of the housemaids. Shall I send her to you, sir?"

"Please."

All that interested Inspector Birch was that Elsie was passing through the hall, and heard voices in the office.

"And stopped to listen?"

"Certainly not," said Elsie with dignity. "I was just passing through the hall, just as you might have been yourself, and not supposing they were talking secrets, didn't think to stop my ears, as no doubt I ought to have done." And she sniffed slightly.

"Come, come," said the inspector soothingly. Now then, what was it you heard? Try to remember the exact words."

Something about working in a passage, thought Elsie.

"H'm. Working a passage over—could that have been it?"

"That's right, sir," said Elsie eagerly. "He'd worked his passage over."

"Well?"

"And then Mr. Mark said loudly—sort of triumphant-like—'It's my turn now. You wait.'"

"Triumphant?"

"As much as to say his chance had come."

"And that's all you heard?"

"That's all, sir; not standing there listening, but just passing through the hall, as it might be any time."

"Yes. Well, that's really very important, Elsie. Thank you."

Elsie gave him a smile, and returned eagerly to the kitchen. Meanwhile Antony had been exploring a little on his own. There was a point which was puzzling him. He went through the hall to the front of the house and stood at the open door. Elsie and Cayley had run round the house to the left. Surely it would have been quicker to have run round to the right? Undoubtedly they went the longest way round.

"Why?" he asked himself. "Was it to give Mark more time in which to escape? Only, in that case—why run? Also, how did Cayley know then that it was Mark who was trying to escape? If he had guessed—that one had shot the other, it was much more likely that Robert had shot Mark. Indeed, he had admitted that this was what he thought. The first thing he had said when he turned the body over was, 'Thank God! I was afraid it was Mark.' But why should he want to give Robert time in which to get away? And again—why run, if he did want to give him time?"

Antony went out of the house again to the lawn at the back, and

sat down on a bench in view of the office windows.

"Now then," he said, "let's go through Cayley's mind carefully, and see what we get."

Cayley had been in the hall when Robert was shown into the office. The servant goes off to look for Mark, and Cayley goes on with his book. Mark comes down the stairs, warns Cayley to stand by in case he is wanted, and goes to meet his brother. What does Cayley expect?

Possibly that he won't be wanted after all; possibly that his advice may be wanted in the matter, say, of paying Robert's debts, or getting him a passage back to Australia; possibly that his physical assistance may be wanted to get an obstreperous Robert out of the house. Well, he sits there for a moment, and then goes into the library. Suddenly he hears a pistol-shot. For the moment he would hardly realize what it was. He listens. Perhaps it wasn't a pistol-shot after all. After a moment or two he goes to the library door again. The profound silence makes him uneasy now. No harm in going into the office just to reassure himself. So he tries the door—and finds it locked!

What are his emotions now? Alarm, uncertainty. Something is happening. Incredible though it seems, it must have been a pistol-shot. He is banging at the door and calling out to Mark, and there is no answer. Alarm—yes. But alarm for whose safety? Mark's, obviously. Robert is a stranger; Mark is an intimate friend. Robert has written a letter that morning, the letter of a man in a dangerous temper. Robert is the tough customer; Mark the highly civilized gentleman. If there has been a quarrel, it is Robert who has shot Mark. He bangs at the door again.

Of course, to Antony, coming suddenly upon this scene, Cayley's conduct had seemed rather absurd, but then, just for the moment, Cayley had lost his head. But, as soon as Antony suggested trying the windows, Cayley saw that that was the obvious thing to do. So he leads the way to the windows—the longest way.

Why? To give the murderer time to escape? If he had thought then that Mark was the murderer, perhaps, yes. But he thinks that Robert is the murderer. If he is not hiding anything, he must think so. Indeed he says so, when he sees the body: "I was afraid it was Mark," he says, when he finds that it is Robert who is killed. No reason, then, for wishing to gain time. On the contrary, every instinct would urge him to get into the room as quickly as possible, and seize the wicked Robert. Yet he goes the longest way round. Why?

And then, why run?

"That's the question," said Antony to himself, as he filled his pipe, "and bless me if I know the answer."

He sat there with his unit pipe in his hand, thinking. There were one or two other things in the back of his brain, waiting to be taken out and looked at. For the moment he left them undisturbed. They would come back to him later when he wanted them.

He laughed suddenly, and lit his pipe.

"I was wanting a new profession," he thought, "and now I've found it. Antony Gillingham, our own private sleuthhound. I shall begin today."

Whatever Antony Gillingham's other qualifications for his new profession, he had at any rate a brain which worked clearly and quickly. And this clear brain of his had already told him that he was the only person in the house at that moment who was unhandicapped in the search for truth. The inspector had arrived in it to find a man dead and a man missing. It was extremely probable, no doubt, that the missing man had shot the dead man. But it was more than extremely probable, it was almost certain that the inspector would start with the idea that this extremely probable solution was the one true solution, and that, in consequence, he would be less disposed to consider without prejudice any other solution.

Inspector Birch was certainly prepared to believe that Mark had shot his brother. Robert had been shown into the office (witness Audrey); Mark had gone in to Robert (witness Cayley); Mark and Robert had been heard talking (witness Elsie); there was a shot (witness everybody); the room had been entered and Robert's body had been found (witness Cayley and Gillingham); and Mark was missing. Obviously, then, Mark had killed his brother: accidentally, as Cayley believed, or deliberately, as Elsie's evidence seemed to suggest.

But there were other possibilities. It would have interested Antony to know that, just at the time when he was feeling rather superior to the prejudiced inspector, the inspector himself was letting his mind dwell lovingly upon the possibilities in connection with Mr. Gillingham. Was it only a coincidence that Mr. Gillingham had turned up just when he did? And Mr. Beverley's curious answers when asked for some account of his friend, an assistant in a tobaccoist's! An odd man, Mr. Gillingham, evidently. It might be as well to keep an eye on him.

CHAPTER VI
THE guests had said goodbye to Cayley, according to their different manner.

Bill had seen them into the car, had taken his own farewells (with a special squeeze of the hand for Betty), and had wandered out to join Antony on his garden seat.

"Well, this is a rum show," said Bill as he sat down.

"Very rum, William."

"And you actually walked right into it?"

"Right into it," said Antony and proceeded to tell all that he had already told the inspector, Bill interrupting him here and there with appropriate "Good Lords" and whistles.

"I say, it's a bit of a business, isn't it? Where do I come in, exactly?"

Antony smiled at him.

"Well, there's nothing to worry about, you know. Besides, I need you. Things are going to happen here soon."

London May Lose Its Slums District

London.—Twenty-two of the worst slum areas in London are to be wiped out by the London County Council. The work is to be spread over the next ten or 12 years and the government will assist in it.

"When the scheme, which involves nothing less than the clearance of all the slum areas in London, is completed," says Colonel Levita, chairman of the Housing Committee, "it will have entailed the displacement of some 45,000 people, and an expenditure of many millions of pounds. The main idea is to make London a slumless city."

"Such work cannot, of course be done on a strictly economic basis but London will benefit greatly by the intensive campaign it is intended to pursue, for better housing all round will mean better health and therefore a happier people."

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Appointment of assistant fuel administrators for Illinois in conformity with the federal government's plan to appropriate coal probably will be made here next Monday or Tuesday, Robert Medill, director of mines and minerals, who has been appointed fuel administrator for Illinois, announced here today.

Two committees, consisting of from 5 to 7 men, each headed by a chairman, will be appointed, Director Medill said. One of the committees will function in Cook county and the other in the down state.

Field Lieutenants will be named to assist the committees in rationing the coal.

Many requests from railroads, public utilities and other businesses already have been met, "Director Medill said.

The personnel of each committee, Director Medill added, has been tentatively selected.

Govt. Stops Sale of Camp Grant Coal

Orders stopping the sale of the surplus coal supply at Camp Grant which was to have been disposed of at auction Thursday, were received at the camp Tuesday from Colonel Clifford Game, depot quartermaster at Chicago.

Approximately 40,000 tons of soft coal are on hand in the camp. Instead of selling it to the public, the government plans to use it for government hospitals under the direction of the veterans' bureau in the Sixth Corps area.

It is estimated that the coal is worth about $300,000. Several tentative bids on it had already been received before it was withdrawn from sale. From 200 to 300 prospective buyers visit the auction sale display room at the Liberty theater daily. The sale begins Thursday and will continue until all goods have been sold.

It is no wonder that many conscientious women break under the strain, and that others drag out a miserable existence, always tired, and yet unable to take a day's vacation. Such women will find themselves benefited and their burdens made easier by the use of Lydia E. HOT WEATHER HINT

ICED COFFEE

Iced coffee is not only a delicious summer drink, but it also furnishes a mild stimulation that is particularly grateful on a wilting hot day. It may be combined with fruit juices and other ingredients in a variety of cooling beverages, generally popular with men.

Coffee that is to be served cold should be made somewhat stronger than usual. To get the best results get a package of Thomas J. Webb Coffee from your dealer. Brew it according to your favorite method and chill before adding sugar and cream. If cracked ice is added make sure the coffee is strong enough to provide for the dilution caused by the ice. Mixing the ingredients in a shaker produces a smoother beverage topped with an appetizing foam.

Armenian Orphans to Get Education

Alexandrapol, Armenia.—A school for the blind, the first of its kind in Armenia will be opened here this summer by the Near East Relief, under the direction of Dr. R. T. Uhlis of Kansas city. The pupils will be 150 Armenian war orphans, aged 5 to 14 years. Most of them are victims of trachoma, the dreaded eye disease which is the scourge of the Near East.

The school operated in connection with the American trachoma hospital here, will be called "Cleveland House" in honor of the city of Cleveland. Funds for the maintenance of the school are provided out of the war-chest contribution which the city of Cleveland makes annually to the Near East Relief.

Cleveland will be represented at the dedicatory exercises by Miss Jane Hardcastle of that city. The Armenian Soviet government will be officially represented by the Ministers of Education and Social Welfare.

STERLING TEAM TO MEET STRONG BUNCH SATURDAY, SUNDAY

Chicago Union Giants, Great Colored Aggregation There.

The strongest baseball team of this section of the country are being booked by the Sterling American Legion baseball management. Announcement is made that the fast Chicago Union Giants colored team, owned by the well known Rube Foster and managed by the inimitable Joe Green, will be the attraction at the Sterling baseball park on Saturday and Sunday.

The Chicago Union Giants played two games in Sterling about a month ago, the first game being won in ten innings, 7 to 6, by the Sterlings and the second game going to the colored team by the margin of one run. Both of those games were filled with sensational and spectacular plays and the return booking of the Giants was made at the request of numerous fans who saw the previous contests.

Since playing Sterling a few weeks ago the Chicago Union Giants have won a long string of games from some of the strongest clubs of Illinois and Wisconsin. The fast, high salaried Pontiac team bowed in defeat to the Giants, 6 to 2, last week. On last Saturday, the Lancaster, Wis., semipro were given the short end of a 4 to 3 score, and on Sunday the Stoughton, Wis. Trucks, with Big Bill Lathrop of the big league pitching, was shutout, 3 to 0.

Many of the ardent fans believe that Sterling will be lucky to break even with the colored team, but there are some of the most rabid bugs who are pinning their faith in the Sterling team to cop both of the contests. But whoever wins next Saturday and Sunday the fans can be assured that they are going to see two real battles.

Sterling Offers Aid in Car Strike

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—Telegrams were sent by Acting Governor Sterling this morning to President Henry A. Blair of the Chicago Surface Lines, and William Quinan, president of the striking street car workers, offering them "any mediatorial service within my power to assist in the settlement of the street car strike in Chicago if such service should be desired."

Airships May Make Own Smoke Screens

London.—Experiments shortly are to be made with a new type of smoke screen for the use of aircraft. A special apparatus will lay a trail of white smoke which, spreading rapidly downwards for a considerable distance, will form a curtain 40 to 50 feet thick. Behind this screen aircraft will be able to hide their movements from an approaching enemy.

experience of Gertrude Leake, formerly an Amboy school teacher.

"In my experience in business I realize that much depends on how the student is instructed—therefore I know that the Individual Instruction Method is the one method by which the maximum results are obtained. By this method I was able to complete a six months' course in three months."

"I wish to state that any one desiring a thorough, up-to-date, practical business training, that your course more than fulfills the requirements." This has been the experience of Arthur O. Capp, now with a large bank in Zion City.

"Since coming to an office where there are others doing the same work, I have come to realize the value of the excellent training I received in Brown's, and to any one desiring a thorough, practical, business training I most heartily recommend your school. I am very enthusiastic over my work. I stated Louise Doty in a recent letter.

"The day I left school to take an active place in the business world I have felt secure and unafraid because of the excellent preparation I received at Brown's Business College. Now, after a year of successful experience in the splendid position which you secured for me, I am sure that confidence was justified." is the Back of all of this are the able instructors who see that individual attention is given to every student. Was what Dorothy Wohke, of Dixon, found out as a student in our school.

BASE HITS

Chicago Aug. 4.—(By The Associated Press.)—Home runs by substitute first baseman Jacobson and backstop Collins, accounted for eight of the Browns' nine runs against Philadelphia and enabled the St. Louisans to maintain their lead in the American League race.

The Giants with Nehf in rare form, shut out the Cubs five to nothing, and kept the Cardinals, who defeated Philadelphia 7-1 out of the first notch in the National League.

Speakers' Indians pounded Mays and Hoyt hard, but were checked by Bob Shawkey, and the Yanks, in ten innings, won 10 to 9. Cobbs' Tigers still on a batting rampage, took two games from the Red Sox 7-0 and 7-4 and strengthened their hold on third place over the White Sox who lost a 2-0 encounter to the Washington club. Pilette allowed the Red Sox but two hits in the first game at Detroit.

The Pirates, with Glazner hurling well defeated the Braves 5 to 1. It was the Pittsburghers fifth straight victory. Burleigh Grimes allowed the Reds but four hits and Brooklyn defeated the Cincinnatians 4-0.

The New York Giants came out of their slump defeating the Chicago Cubs 5-0 yesterday in New York. The scores were made in two innings in a sudden hitting attack on Aldridge and Steuland.

Four home runs were pushed over the pan by the St. Louis Browns and the Athletics. Tillie Walker checked in his twenty fifth drive while Jacobson of the Browns registered a brace. Pat Collins, Brown backstop furnished the other drive. Williams came through with a pair of doubles.

Two men were on the paths when Jacobson hit his first homer.

A feeble attack on Mogridge, veteran flinger of the Senators, caused the White Sox to tumble to defeat, when Mogridge allowed but four hits. Goslin's triple and sacrifice fly gave one run, while Mogridge came through with a homer for the other marker.

Tris Speaker kept his team in the running against the Yankees, with his home run his eighth of the season. The extra frame served the Yankees well, affording them a run and the game. The contest was the Alphonse-Gaston type. The Indians led on two different occasions.

Red Larn, former upper Iowa University baseball star, will be given a trial with the St. Louis Nationals, next spring, it was learned in St. Louis late yesterday. At present he is playing with the Oelwein, Iowa semi-pro club. He is an all around prospect. It is reported.

Ty Cobb went hitless in the first game against the Boston Red Sox, after crashing the gates in sixteen consecutive contests. In the second game he made up, however, getting two triples and scoring two runs. Heilman drove in his seventeenth homer in the afterpiece, with one man on base.

Walter "Butch" Henline, Fort Wayne, Ind., product and who formerly played in the Three Eye and American Association, gained the only deserving hit in the Philadelphia Cardinals game in Philadelphia. His homer, his seventh of the season,

When Hot Days Come We Take to Wide Hats

Photos Copyright by Underwood

GREEN HAIR CLOTH TRIMMED WITH FRENCH FLOWERS

How Wise Women Choose Their Hats

WE have looked upon the small, smart hat and found it good. We have worn the dashing tailored model and pronounced it stunning. We have flirted with felts, berets and jaunty quills. But as the sun mounts higher and outdoor life becomes more and more a part of our plans, we turn as naturally as does Spring herself to the satisfying loveliness of the flower-trimmed chapeau.

The wide graceful shape, laden with exotic blossoms and foliage, which at times take on a form and hue never conceived by Nature in her most prodigal mood, is definitely accepted by the most influential milliners of Paris. And more often than not, the hat which steps gaily out from its tissue wrappings on Easter morning will follow this theme. And it will require a stronger mind than is vouchsafed to most mortals to keep their thoughts entirely on things spiritual as she trips demurely up the aisle on Easter morning crowned with the art of two continents.

Yellow Has Tremendous Vogue.

You may have noticed that yellow, which has not been greatly in evidence for some time, is having a tremendous vogue, especially in combination with black. Huge buttercups with black leaves and calla lilies with black centers are seen on several inviting models. It is a favorite color with Lucile Hamar, who has created so many ravishing styles. But it is just as futile to ask what color leads as it is to inquire what plumage the birds are choosing. There is a great deal of periwinkle, in spite of its being a difficult color to wear. There are hosts of red hats in every shade from poppy to Etruscan. There is green in all its wide range of colors, and beige, which combines so smartly with brown, and is so charming with the popular tan homespun suits. And there are many women who, no matter what pressure may be brought to bear, will never depart from the black hats which they wear from their sub-deb days to the time when they are grandmothers.

But of one thing I am certain: few now make any attempt to follow it. Personal Preference. Hats are chosen for line, for personal preference or for the accompanying costume. Color fairly leaps out at one, perhaps as a relief from the somber black which we have worn with such distinction, and perhaps to give character to the all-white costume which fashion is now smiling upon so lovingly. Oyster-white will be considered excellent for the coming Summer and it will need a touch of wisely-chosen color lest it appear at times somewhat insipid. And what more charming way to supply this touch than by the brilliant crown of flaming geraniums, placed tightly together, which appears on a hat of white tagel straw, broad of brim and slightly drooping in effect?

This is a shape which has the sanction of many of the leading millinery houses. Much has been done for the woman who may have felt in the past that she could not wear a large shape to advantage. One of the newest notes is the uneven brim, which may be longer on one side than on the other;

which may be, and usually is, shorter in back than in front, or which may take a most unexpected turn in the interest of a greater becomingness. A departure, calculated to add to the pleasing effect when the hat is on, is that of rolling the brim very slightly, sometimes only across the front. There is no denying the picturesque gracefulness of these wide models, and the flowers which form the crowns, or are grouped at intervals wherever they are most fascinating, emphasize their charm.

It is only natural, after the heavy hats of Winter, that we should desire delicate beauty, so that the airy, alluring horsehair and crim models have found hosts of admirers. There is perhaps no happier combination than the transparent brim wreathed with pink, blue and mauve flowers. These three colors, which have a decided French appearance may be used in various ways and always with delightful results. In an imported model they were woven into the entire under brim, pastel tones, of course, being used. And in a bewitching poke of black millan they formed two immense wheels at either side.

THE FLARING BRIM

Baskets and How to Make Them

BASKETRY is a branch of craft work which anyone with ten fingers can easily learn. The outfit needed is small and inexpensive, consisting of a pair of diagonal pliers, a small awl, a tape measure and a pair of scissors. The reed may be purchased by the pound and comes in different sizes, and is round, flat and braided.

The amateur usually begins by making a small mat, and by doing this he learns how to hold his materials when working. The reed is soaked in warm water just before it is used to make it pliable and prevent it from cracking.

The bottoms of circular baskets are made like mats, then the spokes are bent at the angle desired and the weaving of the sides is continued in like fashion.

The baskets shown are all small flower baskets—the variety the children adore. These baskets were made from No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3 reed, and after they were finished several of them were colored and the remainder were given a coat of light shellac.

One basket was colored with brown furniture stain and then shellacked, another was given two coats of soft green enamel and a third was painted a brilliant lavender with one of the fluids sold for coloring straw hats. Owing to the limited amount of space it is impossible to give directions for making all of these baskets. Anyone with a slight knowledge of basketry can no doubt "follow" the photographs and make the baskets any size desired. For the benefit of beginners, directions are given for the small basket—the last one in the group of four.

Directions.

Cut eight spokes 10 inches long of No. 2 reed. For the weavers use No. 1 reed. Find the center of each of the eight spokes and mark them with a pencil, then place them (with the weavers) in warm water for a few minutes.

Remove the spokes and arrange them side by side in two groups of four each. Take the first group in your fingers and keep them flat and close together; over these place the second group, with the centers crossing diagonally.

Take a weaver (of No. 1 reed) and insert an end under the upper group of spokes, then go over four and under four—with the weaver, for several times, until a flat bottom is formed. Then begin simple weaving by going over one and under one, and continue until the tiny mat is two inches in diameter, then turn the spokes sharply upward and continue the simple weaving. Keep the sides perpendicular, or slope them a trifle, whichever you prefer.

When you reach the end of a weaver bend it back of a spoke and begin the new weaver back of the same spoke. Continue weaving until the basket is about an inch high, then finish with the following border, which is the common one used in basketry:

Bring each spoke back of one (the spoke to the right) and out. Then wet the spokes and insert each end under the preceding row of weaving, and at the right of the spoke next to it. The handle of this basket is made by taking a piece of No. 2 reed, about 18 inches long. Double it in two and find the center, then insert it under the border, so that the center of the reed is at the side of the basket. Twist the two pieces together like strands of a rope and insert the two ends on the opposite side of the basket and fasten them in place by weaving under the two nearest spokes. After the basket is perfectly dry cut off the protruding ends of reed, leaving them sufficiently long to extend over the spoke nearest the place where they end. The trimming should not be done until the basket is dry, because the reed shrinks.

A Pot-Pourri of Recipes

BEAT three egg yolks until lemon-colored. Make a syrup of two cupfuls of water and one large cupful of sugar, boiling for five minutes. Then pour in a thin stream of the yolks, place over hot water and beat for two minutes. Stand the dish containing the mixture in ice water and beat until cold. Flavor with one tablespoonful of vanilla extract, one teaspoonful of sweet almond extract and half a teaspoonful of lemon extract. Fold in two cupfuls of heavy cream whipped solid and freeze slowly to a soft mush. Have ready three-quarters of a cupful of minced candied fruits that have been soaked overnight in a little maraschino cordial and a quarter of a cupful of chopped blanched almonds; stir this into the cream and continue freezing until firm and smooth.

Frozen Bananas and Ginger.

Prepare one quart of rich boiled custard, as for floating island, and flavor with lemon juice. Chill and add one cupful and a half of sifted banana pulp and half a cupful of chopped preserved ginger with four tablespoonfuls of the syrup. Freeze slowly.

Potted Steak.

Cut two pounds of bottom round steak in small pieces, dip in seasoned flour and brown in hot bacon fat. Place in a casserole and add half a cupful each of diced carrots and turnips, six small peeled onions, one cupful of stewed seasoned tomatoes, one teaspoonful of salt, half a minced green pepper and brown gravy to cover. Cover and simmer until the meat is very tender. Just before serving add half a cupful of canned peas and sauteed mushroom caps. Use a slow oven for cooking.

Casserole of Lamb With Oatmeal.
Purchase one and a half pounds of neck or breast of lamb, remove the fat and cut the meat into inch pieces. Brown over quickly in a little hot fat and arrange in a casserole with a half cupful each of white turnip, carrot and onion finely chopped, one cupful of thick tomato puree, two tablespoonfuls of rolled oats, three cupfuls of hot water or stock, one and a half teaspoonfuls of salt, and a quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika. Cover the casserole closely, and cook in a moderate oven for two hours. A few canned peas may be added just previous to serving.

Cheese Biscuits.
Sift together two cupfuls of bread flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt. Rub in with the finger tips two tablespoonfuls of butter and add three rounding tablespoonfuls of grated cheese. Wet to a dry dough with cold milk, cut into rounds and lay in a buttered pan, with the biscuits not touching. Dust with more cheese and paprika and bake in a very quick oven.

Strawberry Mousse.
Mash sufficient fresh strawberries to make one cupful and add one cupful of powdered sugar and one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Chill on the ice and gradually blend with one pint of chilled cream, whipped very stiff with one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Turn into a mold with a water-tight cover and bury in ice and rock salt for four hours before serving.

Suggests Meeting of Railroad Unions

Chicago, Aug. 3.—E. J. Manion of St. Louis, president of the railway telegraphers, has sent letters to the heads of the twelve railroad unions not to strike, suggesting a meeting to discuss the growing tendency to involve their men in the shopmen's strike, it was learned here today.

Mr. Manion's letter, it was learned, pointed out that the members of the twelve unions still at work had many problems in relation to the strike, and suggested the advisability of a conference of the twelve grand chiefs, including heads of the four big brotherhoods "to consider strike developments and possible action."

A high official of one union said Lee of the trainmen and Sheppard of the conductors were known to be opposed to the Manion suggestion, but probably would co-operate if the majority of the twelve presidents favored it.

Britain Intends to Pay Debt to America

London, Aug. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—That Great Britain has no intention of suggesting any alteration of her financial obligations to the United States was emphasized in the United States today by Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, in reviewing the British position on German reparations.

"I wish to make it clear beyond all question of misapprehension," declared Sir Robert, "that we recognize to the full our obligations to pay our debts to the United States and we do not mean, in any shape or form, to evade that obligation."

British Bantam May Come to the States

London.—Thomas Harrison, of Hanley, British bantamweight champion, may go to the United States in quest of the world's title, recently won by Joe Lynch from Johnny Buff. Harrison recently knocked out Jim Higgins, the British title holder, in the 13th round of their match. Although Harrison has established himself as superior to other English 118-pounders, many of the boxing critics believe he should bolster his record before going after Lynch, one of the cleverest little men in the world. Higgins, defeated by Harrison, was a victim of Pete Herman's cudgel when the American invaded the Isles.
